

THOMSON REUTERS

Table of Contents

DISABILITY AND THE QUEENSLAND CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

Dan Toombs

INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1: WHAT IS A RELEVANT DISABILITY

Introduction

Mental illness

Psychotic disorders

Schizophrenia

Delusional disorders

Mood disorders

Clinical depression

Bipolar affective disorder

Anxiety disorders

Personality disorders

Intellectual disability

Acquired brain injury

CHAPTER 2: DISABILITY AND THE QUEENSLAND CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

Introduction

Intellectual disability

New South Wales Law Reform Commission Report

Factors leading to predisposition

Cultural myths

Comparative study in Western Australia

Mental illness

Acquired brain injury

Predisposition

Conclusion

CHAPTER 3: SOURCES OF DISABILITY LAW

Introduction

Mental illness

Policies, plans and the Burdekin Report

Rights Analysis Instrument

Jurisdictional inconsistencies

Intellectual disability and acquired brain injury

The Carter Report

CHAPTER 4: QUEENSLAND MENTAL HEALTH LEGISLATION

Introduction

The purpose of the Mental Health Act 2000 (Qld)

Principles underpinning the administration of the Act

The right to least restrictive treatment

Involuntary assessment

Justices examination order

Emergency examination order

The end of an involuntary assessment

What is an involuntary treatment order

Persons before a court or in custody requiring assessment

Court assessment order

CHAPTER 5: CONSIDERATIONS FOR REPRESENTING A PERSON WHO MAY HAVE A DISABILITY

Introduction

Police interviews

Identification of disability

Analytical tools – Intellectual disability

The Hayes Ability Screening Index

The Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale – Revised

Analytical tools – Mental illness

Mini-international Neuropsychiatric Interview

Composite International Diagnostic Interview

Referral decision scale

Taking defendant instructions

Sample questions at interviews

Initial options at court

Bail and remand

Bail applications

Evidence of mental condition or intellectual disability

Processes for accessing medical information

Psychiatric assessments and reports

Is the defendant on an ITO or FO?

Defendant charged with indictable offence not on ITO or FO

Defendant is charged with a summary offence

Confidentiality and privacy

CHAPTER 6: FITNESS TO PLEAD

Introduction

Fitness for trial and the common law

Eastman v The Queen

Fitness to give coherent instructions

R v AAM; Ex parte A-G (Qld)

R v Presser

The narrowing of Presser

Ngatayi v The Queen: The commonsense approach

Kesavarajah: The length of trial

R v Wilson

Eastman v The Queen

Conclusion

CHAPTER 7: THE DEFENCE OF UNSOUNDNESS OF MIND

Introduction

The onus and standard of proof

M’Naghten Rules

Other considerations

Intentional intoxication

Diminished responsibility

Automatism

CHAPTER 8: THE MENTAL HEALTH COURT

Introduction

The court's jurisdiction

The role of assisting psychiatrists

Disputes as to facts

References to the Mental Health Court

Is defendant on involuntary treatment order or forensic order?

Criminal proceedings suspended

Notification of Director of Mental Health

The psychiatrist's report under section 238

Director must refer to Director of Public Prosecutions or Mental Health Court

Procedure on reference to the DPP under Chapter 7 Part 3 of the Act

Procedure where defendant charged with indictable offence and not on ITO or FO

Confidentiality orders

Court delays

Forensic patients

Forensic order (Criminal Code)

Forensic order (Minister)

Forensic order (Mental Health Court)

Treatment and duties of the administrator of the mental health service

Non-contact orders

Variation and revocation of non-contact order

Non-contravention of requirement of order

Right to trial retained

Requirements

Effects

Admissibility and use of evidence

Expert's report admissible

Statements not admissible

Use of expert's report

CHAPTER 9: INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY AND THE MENTAL HEALTH COURT

Introduction

The Carter Report

Disability Services Act

Forensic Disability Act

CHAPTER 10: SENTENCING

Introduction

Sentencing options

Good behaviour bond

Monetary fine

Probation order

Community service order

Imprisonment

CHAPTER 11: APPEALS AGAINST MENTAL HEALTH COURT DECISIONS

Introduction

The appeal process

The Mental Health Review Tribunal

The tribunal's jurisdiction

Right of appearance

Review of fitness for trial

The tribunal's processes

Confidentiality orders

Privacy and confidentiality in relation to tribunal proceedings

Enforcement of privacy and confidentiality in relation to tribunal proceedings

Appeals against tribunal decisions

CHAPTER 12: CASE STUDIES

BOOK DETAILS

Disability and the Queensland Criminal Justice System

Dan Toombs

ISBN 9780455229966

March 2012

www.thomsonreuters.com.au