

FIRSTPOINT

Powered by The Australian Digest

FirstPoint is an online case law research tool that provides citation information, reliable summaries of important cases and makes it easy to find similar and related cases. It offers easy subject based browsing across 19,000 points of law.

FirstPoint makes case law research quick, easy and accurate, and provides a single entry hub for a range of case law content including Australia's largest collection of authorised and specialist law reports.

Why choose FirstPoint?

- Case law research is faster, more accurate

A single entry hub for a range of case law content including Australia's largest collection of authorised and specialist law reports makes your research quick, easy and accurate. Case law is updated daily, with over 15,000 new cases added every year.

- Search results are precise and relevant

FirstPoint highlights significant, useful and relevant case and legislation relationships (those which create law, apply/extend law to new or novel facts or are otherwise important).

- Legally-qualified editors review, classify and summarise cases

Our team of legal editors make your life easier by applying a set of selection criteria to ensure that significant judgments are digested with key points available at a glance. They also summarise (or "digest") the cases to give you a snapshot of the relevant points of law covered by a case enabling you to see the most important points concisely and making your research efficient.

- Cases are classified according to The Australian Digest taxonomy

The taxonomy is a hierarchical classification scheme with a controlled vocabulary, specifically designed for Australian case law. It is one of the most respected legal research products in Australia (called The Australian Digest).

It means you can research a particular legal topic and find relevant cases at the click of a button. It also means you can use the "find more cases like this" functionality with the certainty that you are capturing every piece of case law on that topic.

FIRSTPOINT

Online case law research utilising
The Australian Digest classification system.

FirstPoint is organised into 79 legal titles and powered by The Australian Digest

Each title contains a series of related and relevant legal issues, displayed in a hierarchical table of contents. Selecting a particular title or legal issue in the TOC, instantly displays all relevant cases, as selected by the FirstPoint legal team.

Easy navigation to the full-text of the decision

The FirstPoint record reveals all available parallel citations and allows easy navigation to the full-text of the decision. We provide the unreported judgment (with Word/RTF download) and all reported versions, both court-authorised and authoritative series, together with accurate print PDF downloads.

FirstPoint 'verified' symbol

The case record includes legislation considered, cases cited, cases citing, journal articles, and words and phrases judicially considered. "FirstPoint verified" means these particular references are significant and have been checked by the FirstPoint legal team.

The data is being enhanced continually to provide available case and legislation references from within the judgment.

Authored digests and catchwords

To complete your case research, the FirstPoint legal team have authored digests and catchwords on the various points of law raised in the judgment. These including detailed summaries of the holdings.

Available online via the Westlaw AU platform

- View all results in a consolidated format (the FirstPoint entry, Unreported Judgment and report versions all on one screen)
- Instantly filter with Westlaw AU's advanced filtering system (e.g. by jurisdiction)
